

The WHA announces the Caughey Book Prize given annually for the most distinguished book on the history of the American West, broadly defined. The award consists of $2,500 and a certificate to the author, and a certificate to the press. Presses should submit nominations to each member of the award committee (see below). This prize is made possible by the generous support of the John and LaRee Caughey Foundation.

To be eligible for award in 2010, book must have been published in 2009.

Application Deadline: July 16, 2010
